

Alexander Bustrups citater

Showing 1-30 of 174

"It is not that we have a short time to live, but that we waste a lot of it. Life is long enough, and a sufficiently generous amount has been given to us for the highest achievements if it were all well invested."

— Seneca, On the Shortness of Life

tags: time, philosophy, stoicism1204 likes Like

"The ledger is honest about everything except what was worth doing, and that is the only entry anyone remembers. (Fixture entry 1.)"

— Fixture Author 1, A Sample Work, Number 1

tags: fixture, set-137 likes Like

"The unexamined life is not worth living."

— Socrates

tags: philosophy3311 likes Like

"Patience is a technique before it is a virtue: it is the practice of leaving a question open long enough for it to answer itself. (Fixture entry 2.)"

— Fixture Author 2, A Sample Work, Number 2

tags: fixture, set-274 likes Like

"Man is condemned to be free; because once thrown into the world, he is responsible for everything he does."

— Jean-Paul Sartre, Existentialism Is a Humanism

872 likes Like

"Every institution begins as a solution to a problem and ends as a description of the people who work in it, which is why reform is so much harder than founding, and why the founders are so much better remembered than the reformers who kept the thing alive. (Fixture entry 3.)"

— Fixture Author 3, A Sample Work, Number 3

tags: fixture, set-3111 likes Like

"Never say about anything, 'I have lost it,' but say, 'I have given it back' — and then go on living as though nothing had been taken from you."

— Epictetus, The Enchiridion

tags: loss, acceptance96 likes Like

"Attention is the rarest form of generosity, and it cannot be faked for very long. (Fixture entry 4.)"

— Fixture Author 4, A Sample Work, Number 4

148 likes Like

“Livet skal forstås baglæns, men det må leves forlæns.”

— Søren Kierkegaard, Journalen JJ

tags: livet, filosofi

431 likes Like

“Nothing is so practical as a good theory, and nothing is so useless as a theory that has never once been embarrassed by a fact. (Fixture entry 5.)”

— Fixture Author 5

tags: fixture, set-5

185 likes Like

“A student who has read only summaries knows the shape of an argument and none of its weight, because the weight is in the sentences that the summary leaves out; and when such a student is asked to defend the argument, he defends the shape, which cannot be defended, since a shape has no reasons in it. The remedy is not to read more summaries but to read one book slowly, with a pencil, and to write in the margin every time a sentence does something the summary had not prepared you for. After a hundred pages of this the book stops being a position to agree or disagree with and becomes a mind you are arguing with, which is the only condition under which reading changes anybody.”

— Fixture Author 101, On Reading Slowly

tags: reading, attention, study

58 likes Like

“To study something is to agree in advance to be corrected by it. (Fixture entry 6.)”

— Fixture Author 6, A Sample Work, Number 6

tags: fixture, set-6

222 likes Like

“The story so far: In the beginning the Universe was created. This has made a lot of people very angry and been widely regarded as a bad move.”

— Douglas Adams, The Restaurant at the End of the Universe, Volume 2

tags: humour, science-fiction

2210 likes Like

“A market clears; it does not thereby become just. The two words describe different questions, and a great deal of bad argument comes from answering the first while appearing to answer the second. (Fixture entry 7.)”

— Fixture Author 7, A Sample Work, Number 7

tags: fixture, set-0

259 likes Like

“We are not troubled by things, but by the opinions which we have of things.”

— Marcus Aurelius Antoninus Augustus, Meditations: A New Translation with an Introduction

tags: stoicism, mind, perception, philosophy, self-control, ancient-rome, meditation, classics

1770 likes Like

"The first duty of a student is to find out what he actually believes, which usually takes longer than finding out what is true. (Fixture entry 8.)"

— Fixture Author 8, A Sample Work, Number 8

296 likes Like

"Hat man sein Warum des Lebens, so verträgt man sich fast mit jedem Wie — der Mensch strebt nicht nach Glück."

— Friedrich Nietzsche, Götzen-Dämmerung

tags: sinn, philosophie

655 likes Like

"Boredom is the raw material of thought, and we have industrialised its removal. (Fixture entry 9.)"

— Fixture Author 9, A Sample Work, Number 9

tags: fixture, set-2

333 likes Like

"Amor fati."

— Friedrich Nietzsche, Ecce Homo

tags: fate

12 likes Like

"An argument you cannot state in your opponent's own words is an argument you have not yet understood. (Fixture entry 10.)"

— Fixture Author 10

tags: fixture, set-3

370 likes Like

"Au milieu de l'hiver, j'apprenais enfin qu'il y avait en moi un été invincible."

— Albert Camus, Retour à Tipasa

tags: espoir

289 likes Like

"The ledger is honest about everything except what was worth doing, and that is the only entry anyone remembers. (Fixture entry 11.)"

— Fixture Author 11, A Sample Work, Number 11

tags: fixture, set-4

407 likes Like

"What is the use of a house if you have not got a tolerable planet to put it on?"

— Henry David Thoreau

tags: nature, home

344 likes Like

“Patience is a technique before it is a virtue: it is the practice of leaving a question open long enough for it to answer itself. (Fixture entry 12.)”

— Fixture Author 12, A Sample Work, Number 12

444 likes Like

“Every institution begins as a solution to a problem and ends as a description of the people who work in it, which is why reform is so much harder than founding, and why the founders are so much better remembered than the reformers who kept the thing alive. (Fixture entry 13.)”

— Fixture Author 13, A Sample Work, Number 13

tags: fixture, set-6

481 likes Like

“Attention is the rarest form of generosity, and it cannot be faked for very long. (Fixture entry 14.)”

— Fixture Author 14, A Sample Work, Number 14

tags: fixture, set-0

518 likes Like

“Nothing is so practical as a good theory, and nothing is so useless as a theory that has never once been embarrassed by a fact. (Fixture entry 15.)”

— Fixture Author 15

tags: fixture, set-1

555 likes Like

“To study something is to agree in advance to be corrected by it. (Fixture entry 16.)”

— Fixture Author 16, A Sample Work, Number 16

592 likes Like

“A market clears; it does not thereby become just. The two words describe different questions, and a great deal of bad argument comes from answering the first while appearing to answer the second. (Fixture entry 17.)”

— Fixture Author 17, A Sample Work, Number 17

tags: fixture, set-3

629 likes Like

“The first duty of a student is to find out what he actually believes, which usually takes longer than finding out what is true. (Fixture entry 18.)”

— Fixture Author 18, A Sample Work, Number 18

tags: fixture, set-4

666 likes Like

« previous 1 2 3 4 5 6 next »